A beautiful Low country course designed by two of the best names in golf, Dan Maples and Mother Nature.

The Sound Golf Links at Albemarle Plantation is a Low Country beauty designed by two of the best names in golf, Dan Maples and Mother Nature. This masterpiece on the shores of Albemarle Sound in historic Hertford, North Carolina features plush fairways and immaculate greens that run along age-old marshes and through cypress groves draped in Spanish Moss. Every hole is distinctly different, particularly the three finishing holes which border miles of blue water. There is no finer way to end the day than sinking a masterful putt as the sun sets, lighting up the broad waters of Albemarle Sound.
